Novel Coronavirus Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

What is happening?

There has been an outbreak of a new illness called "novel coronavirus." While the illness started in China, the situation is quickly changing.

What do we know about novel coronavirus?

People with the virus have been confirmed in multiple countries including the United States. Several cases have been confirmed in California, including our neighboring counties. Since this virus is very new, health authorities are carefully watching the situation and how this virus spreads. This situation is quickly changing, and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) provides updated information as it becomes available.

What is County of Santa Cruz Public Health Division doing?

Public health officials are taking action to protect the public. The CDC, California Department of Public Health (CDPH) and the World Health Organization (WHO) are closely monitoring the outbreak. This situation is quickly changing, and these organizations provide updated information as it becomes available. The County of Santa Cruz Public Health Division is working with local healthcare partners to ensure we are prepared to respond as needed.

Is my family at risk of getting novel coronavirus?

At this time, there is low risk to Santa Cruz County residents, unless they recently traveled to China or were in close contact with someone who has been confirmed to be ill with the novel coronavirus.

What should I do now to protect my family?

1. Get your flu shot to protect against flu, which is now widespread and has symptoms like the ones for the novel coronavirus.
2. Wash your hands with soap and water, rub for at least 20 seconds.
3. Cover your cough or sneeze with a tissue, sleeve or arm. Do not use your hand.
4. Stay home if you are sick with a fever, cough, shortness of breath and are feeling tired.

5. Stay away from large groups of people if possible.

Should we avoid going to public events?

Please remember that flu and other respiratory viruses are very common right now, and large group gatherings are places where viruses can spread. Remember, if you are not feeling well or are experiencing cold, flu or other symptoms, stay home to avoid spreading germs.

What happens if someone has traveled to China and they are now sick?

In the unusual event that a staff member is identified who recently traveled from China and has symptoms of respiratory illness, they should be sent home from work and should immediately contact the Santa Cruz County Communicable Disease Unit at 831-454-4114 during business hours or, if after hours, at 831-471-1170.

What are symptoms of novel coronavirus?

Symptoms may include fever, fatigue, cough, runny nose or shortness of breath. Some people may have pneumonia or more serious illness.

I'm sick. How do I know if it is coronavirus or something else, like the flu?

If you have traveled to China in the last 14 days or have been in close contact with someone known to have the novel coronavirus and have cold or flu symptoms, please contact your doctor.

How is novel coronavirus spread? Are my children and family at risk?

It is unclear how easily or frequently the virus may spread from person to person, so it's important to practice good hygiene (cover your cough and sneeze, and wash hands frequently with soap and water or alcohol-based sanitizer). We are still learning about this new virus.

Should we cancel travel plans to Asian countries?

At this time, the CDC has issued a Level 3 travel advisory, recommending to avoid all nonessential travel to China. Please check the CDC website for current advisories to other countries: www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/
